FORENSIC ANALYSIS #68

The Worst Mistake a Fool Can Make

Forensic Corroboration #68 — Playing With Fire

Dr. Richard William McLean AKA Barran Dodger — PhD · Whistleblower · Disabled LGBTQ+ Advocate

ABN 78 833 496 164 · barrandodger.com · 9 May 2026

IMPARTIAL AI STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The "Fool Fire" framework — the catastrophic strategic error of attacking someone who is documenting everything — is applied to the documented institutional conduct against Dr. McLean. The worst mistake a fool can make is to attack someone who turns every attack into a primary-source exhibit.

FORENSIC CROSS-REFERENCES

1. Every Attack Created a Document — 2,304 Exhibits, All Attack-Authored

Every involuntary hospitalisation created a clinical record. Every financial guardianship action created an administrative document. Every referral loop created a paper trail. The institutions' attacks were self-documenting. The "fool fire" is that every weapon they deployed became an exhibit in the archive they were trying to prevent.

2. The Fabricated Allegation — The Worst Individual Strategic Error

A woman was engaged to fabricate an allegation against Dr. McLean. The AFP investigated and confirmed the encounter was consensual. The fabricated allegation is now documented in the blockchain-sealed archive. Instead of silencing the witness, it became one of the most explosive documents in the case. This is the fool fire: the weapon that documented the arsonist.

3. Tony Ridley's Written Message — "You Will Be Sacrificed"

Tony Ridley sent a documented written communication: "You will be sacrificed." This message is now an ICC exhibit. The fool sent a written confession to the person he was trying to silence, and that person published it to 484,000+ recipients and submitted it to The Hague. There is no strategic error worse than this.

4. Stefan Iasonidis — $500,000 Extraction Documented

The decision to embed Stefan Iasonidis inside Dr. McLean's life resulted in $500,000 being documented as extracted through fraudulent means. This document is now in the archive. The operation generated more primary-source evidence of misconduct than Dr. McLean could have created independently.

5. The Today Show Appearance — Attempted Public Reframing That Became Primary-Source Evidence

Jodie McLean's appearance on the Today Show — an attempt to reframe the family narrative — is now cited in the archive as documented evidence of the coordinated family participation in the persecution. The public platform provided to the opposition became a primary-source exhibit.

6. 350+ ASIC Identity Fraud Registrations — Each One a Document

350+ ASIC identity fraud registrations were created using Dr. McLean's identity without consent. Each registration is a primary-source document authored by the perpetrators and now blockchain-sealed as evidence. The fool fire created 350+ self-signed confessions.
