FORENSIC CROSS-REFERENCES

1. They Brought the Wood — Every Institutional Attack Became Fuel

Every involuntary hospitalisation created a clinical record. Every financial guardianship action created an administrative document. Every referral loop created a paper trail. Every death threat created a correspondence exhibit. The institutions brought every piece of wood for the bonfire they are now standing in.

2. The Archive Is the Fire — 484,000+ Witnesses Watching

484,000+ downloads. Six continents. The bonfire is global. The institutional actors whose conduct is documented in the archive are burning in the light of 484,000+ witnesses who have read the documents that record their conduct.

3. The Blockchain Keeps the Fire Burning — Permanently

Hash: 3a507d741f6af28bd7653a256a8a5262e4641c7dd45ab645617a000b5afa11dd. Bitcoin Block 897,501. The bonfire cannot be extinguished by institutional action, legal pressure, or political intervention. The blockchain ensures the fire burns permanently, distributed across every node in the Bitcoin network.

4. The ICC Submission — The Fire Reported to the International Fire Department

The International Criminal Court has been formally notified of the bonfire — the documented institutional conduct — via Article 7 of the Rome Statute. The UNHCR has been notified. The international fire response is now engaged.

5. The Corporate Frame Job Burned — 2,304 Documents Survived the Attempted Extinguishment

Every attempt to extinguish the archive — psychiatric hospitalisations, financial destruction, death threats, embedded operatives — failed. The fire was not extinguished. The attempts to extinguish it became additional fuel.

6. Wyong Local Court — The First Domestic Hearing of the Fire

14 May 2026. Receipt I88267509. The first formal domestic encounter with the bonfire. The international fire has been burning for months. The domestic hearing is where the institutional actors will sit across from the evidence of what they brought to the fire.
